Talking Points

The Contrarian Portrait

Key Talking Points You Can Use with High-Net-Worth Clients

- Kevin G. Saunders has studied anatomy for over 45 years and has a history of high achievement for the same period. This foundation prepared him to dedicate the last 12 years, since 2014, to portraiture at world-class level.
- In an era flooded with perfect but empty digital images, commissioning a real physical portrait is the contrarian choice.
- History has proven this pattern time and again: during periods of rapid change and uncertainty, those who invested in permanent, masterful art were later recognized as the ones who made the smart, lasting decision.
- Kevin's body of work already places him on the right side of this trend. His grand-scale portraits are becoming the authoritative records of our time.
- When you introduce this to clients, you give them the opportunity to be among those proven wise by history, owning a true original that will only grow in cultural importance.

Powerful Quote You Can Share “In the age of the instant image, the contrarian chooses the permanent.”
